

VISTAGE-MIER CEO Confidence Index

Surveying CEOs, Executives of small and mid-sized businesses since 2003

CAUTIOUS SENTIMENTS

Low oil prices and holiday cheer have not lifted the spirits of CEOs as uncertainties in the Malaysian and global economic landscapes continue to weigh on their sentiment and confidence. This is reflected in the Vistage-MIER CEO Confidence Index which settled at 66.9 in 1Q2016. Although it was up 1.6 points from 4Q2015, it has fallen 3.7 points from 1Q2015 and persistently stayed below the 100-point threshold of optimism, indicating that CEOs' confidence has continued to remain on low ebb.

CEOs' assessment of economic conditions in 1Q2016 was generally better than last quarter but worse than a year ago. This is shown in the latest current economic conditions index which stood at 20, compared to 17 and 34 in 4Q2015 and 1Q2015, respectively. 81% of the 485 CEOs believed that current economic conditions have worsened, compared to 84% in 4Q2015 and 68% in 1Q2015. They are also less positive going forward, with the expected economic conditions index dropping to 35 from 40 a quarter ago. 69% are anticipating a deterioration in economic conditions in the coming months, up from 65% in 4Q2015.

The near-term business outlook is mixed, with renewed confidence for employment, revenue and profitability. The expected revenue index, at 122, was little changed from 1Q2015's 123, but rose five points quarter-on-quarter, indicating that revenue growth is likely to gain some momentum soon. A majority of 43% in 1Q2016 are expecting better revenues in 2Q2016, up from 39% in 4Q2015. After staying two straight quarters below the 100-point demarcation level, the index for expected profitability finally breached this level to reach 104 points in 1Q2016, portending a pick-up in profitability soon. 31% revised their profitability projection upwards, compared to 29% in 4Q2015.

Planned headcount is expected to improve in the near-term. The expected employment index gained three points from 4Q2015 to 120 in 1Q2016, with 34% of the CEOs saying they are likely to recruit more in the months ahead, while 52% will put their staffing on hold for now. The latest expected planned fixed investment index was three points down from last quarter's 108, suggesting a slowdown in capital investment is expected in the coming months.

THE U.S. INTEREST RATE HIKE

The US Federal Reserve raised interest rates recently and pledged a gradual pace of increases, with many analysts and fund managers expecting the greenback to climb higher in the coming years as well. This trend of successive rate hikes, according to half of the respondents, will negatively affect their businesses, while 32% do not think they will be affected at all and 17% responded positively.

With the US$/RM rate hovering around RM4.30, 44% and 15% described themselves as net losers and net gainers, respectively, while 41% were neutral, saying it has no effect on them.
